Instant win games will randomly select a winner during the day.

For games requiring a prize draw, the draw will take place the following day, or two days later if it falls on a weekend, among the players who participated in the relevant game and provided a valid email address.

The winner will be notified by email by the organising company, SANDAYA.

The winner will then contact the organising company by email to provide their personal details for the prizes delivery or to book the awarded stay, if applicable.

Prizes will be sent to the winners by post within thirty (30) days after the end of the competition.

Winners of weekend or week-long stays must complete their stay by 31 October 2025.

The following will lead to cancellation of prizes:

Return to the organising company Sandaya of the email containing information about the winner by post due to erroneous address and/or email address and/or change of address, winners foregoing prizes for any reason, and in the event of any other unforeseen circumstances.

Without prejudice to any legal proceedings, Sandaya is not obliged to provide winners with prizes if they have clearly, and by any means, managed to interfere with the result of the competition or if they have failed to comply with these regulations. In this event, the prize shall remain the property of Sandaya, which will have the right not to re-allocate or to allocate to anyone it chooses.

Prizes are strictly personal and non-transferrable, nor exchangeable for a monetary value, nor for another prize.

In the event of force majeure or of a particular occurrence, Sandaya reserves the option to replace prizes won by prizes of an equivalent type and value, without incurring its own liability in doing so.

Sandaya disclaims any liability relating to prizes awarded, including in the event of delays or if winners are dissatisfied with prizes.

Article 5: Publicity

By taking part, entrants authorise Sandaya to communicate their usernames without conferring on them the right to payment or any type of benefit.

Article 6: Limitation of liability of organising companies

Sandaya reserves the right to cancel, modify, shorten or extend the competition if events make this necessary, and will not be held liable if this occurs. Information pertaining to the cancellation or modification of this competition, should this apply, will be available, as will these regulations, at:

Entry to the competition means entrants are aware of and agree to the nature and limits of the internet, especially in terms of technical performance, response times for looking at, asking questions about and transferring information, risks with regard to outage and, more widely, risks pertaining to all internet connections and transmissions, the lack of protection of some data against any misuse and the risks of contamination by any viruses that may be circulating on the network.

As a result, the organising company will in no event be held liable for, among other things:

- the content of services viewed on the website and, more widely, for any information and/or data circulated on the services viewed on the website;

- sending and/or receiving any data and/or information on the internet;

- any malfunction of the internet that prevents the competition from running and functioning normally;

- the breakdown of any equipment for receiving or of lines of communication;

- the loss of any emails or post and, more widely, for loss of any data;

- delivery problems;

- human error or electronically-derived errors;

- the operation of any software;

- the consequences of any viruses, computer bugs, anomalies or technical breakdowns;

- any damage caused to entrants' computers;

- any technical, equipment and software breakdown of any kind that prevents or restricts the possibility of entering the competition or which may damage entrants' systems.

- delays in delivery of prizes or, if applicable, any losses by postal services or other dispatch services outside the organising company. Complaints must be made by addressees to companies which are responsible for delivering the aforementioned mail etc.

It is stipulated that the organising company cannot be held liable for any direct or indirect damage due to an outage, any kind of malfunction, suspension or to the end of the competition, for any reason at all, nor for any direct or indirect damage that may result, in any way, from logging on to the website. It is the responsibility of entrants to take any appropriate steps in order to protect their own data and/or software stored on their computer systems from any violations. People logging onto the website and participating in the competition are fully liable for doing so.

The organising company will not be held liable, in general terms, in the event of force majeure or unforeseen circumstances that are beyond its control.

Article 7: Checking the identities of entrants

To ensure these regulations are observed, the organising company reserves the right to conduct any checks with regard to the identities of entrants, their place of residence and their use of social network Facebook. Any indication of a false, fraudulent, dishonest, incorrect or imprecise identity will lead to elimination from entry.

Article 8: Personal data – data protection law

To enter this competition, entrants must provide certain information about themselves. This information will be saved and will be subject to automatic processing in line with French law no. 78-17 of 6th January 1978 pertaining to data protection. Entrants have the right to access, modify, rectify and remove data concerning them.

It is understood that, in accordance with French law no. 78-17 of 6th January 1978 pertaining to data protection, entrants to the competition have the right to contest, access, rectify and remove personal data concerning them. To exercise this right, entrants must send their requests in writing to the address below:

SANDAYA

Costs incurred for requesting, rectifying and removing data will be reimbursed on the basis of a single letter weighing less than 20 grammes sent via second class post.

Article 9: Disputes and competent jurisdiction

Entrants are bound by French regulations applying to games and competitions.

All disputes and complaints pertaining to this competition must be made in writing and sent by post to:

SANDAYA
472 RUE DU RAJOL,
CS 83005,
34137 MAUGUIO
France

The organising company will decide about any questions pertaining to the application of these regulations, in line with French legislation. These decisions cannot be appealed. The law applicable to these regulations is the French law and the language applicable is French. Any disagreement during the course of this competition will be subject to an attempt at amicable settlement. If such an agreement is not forthcoming, the dispute will be put to the competent jurisdiction appointed in line with France's Code of Civil Procedure. No challenges will be permitted one month after the end of the competition.

Article 10: Legal deposit and access

These competition regulations are available free of charge from the organising company and from the date on which they were drawn up.

Entry to the competition implies full acceptance of all of the provisions of these regulations, as well as of the laws and regulations governing competitions that are currently applicable in France.

Regulations may be modified at any time by way of an amendment by organisers, in accordance with the conditions stated, and published through an online announcement on the website. The amendment will come into effect when it is put online, and all entrants will be deemed to have agreed to it by virtue of their entering the competition, from the date on which the modification comes into effect. Entrants who reject the modification(s) will have to cease participation in the competition.
